publishes one of the most damning records sgainst William H. English, the Democratic candidate for Vice President. ever compiled against any living man.

The record is one that ought to con-demn this man English to everlasting OLD SCHOOGE.

Evansvil'e Journal (Bep.)
By the record, a representative only of all that is close in business and unlovable in life, typifying, indeed, all of those repulsive characteristics of miserliness which, in the character of Old Scrooge, Charles Dickens has handed down to an infamous immortality, and deserving only that political damnation which, as sure as November rolls around, he will certainly receive.

A list of the suits brought by Mr. Engisk, for judgement and foreclosure of norigage during the past three years, fills nearly four columns of the Cincinnati Commercial. Mr. English has been a rev-Commercial. Mr. English has been a reveller in the miseries of the poor, a worker of suffering and starvation to his fellow men, a loathsome human spider, in fact, a most miserly and inhuman fellow, whose ill-gotten riches alone have given him quasi respectability. This the record

leveland Leader (Rep.)

Bill English is on the war-path against the concectors and publishers of campaign the conocctors and publishers of campaign lies or slanders about him. He has em-ployed several attorneys with instructions to sue all papers slandering him. The Leader is waiting to be sued by him. In fact, it will pay him the sum of fifty dol-lars if he will commence a suit, for we would like to see him put through a course of cross-questioning and thus be able to MODEL SKINPLINT.

t. Louis Democrat, (Rep.)
The Court records of Indianapolis show hat the Democratic candidate for Vice president is a model skinflint—one of these presidentis a model skinflint—one of these remorseless men who can grind the last farthing from a poor client without the least twinge of conscience. He is one of those business birds of prey, who make money by seizing the substance of others. During the past three years Mr. English has brought 185 suits for judgment and foreclosure of mortgage, all of which were against poor persons, and forty of them against poor women. PERRY DAVIS' PAIN-KILLER CALPING HIS NEIGHBORS AND FLEECING THE hiengo Inter-Ocean, (Rep.) Mr. English stands convicted of a sys ematic attempt to advance his own intertemstic attempt to advance his own inter-sease at the expense of his poorer or less fortunate neighbors. To this is added personal evidence, showing the man's heartlessness, as well as his grasping na-ture. A man who can secure his own consent to enter upon the work of fleecing the poor can not be popular with members of his own party where he is well known. When the facts are known Mr. Ecglish will be as unpopular everywhere as he is at home.

ENERGY IN GOING FOR DEBTORS.

eritoa Jeurnal (Sep.) The Indiana English among other qua fications for the Vice Presidency, was redited with being an "energetic business credited with being an "energetic business man." His operations in the foreclosure of mortgages shows him to be excessively energetic in his exactions. When the hard times were on he foreclosed on property on which payments had been made, bought it at the sale for less money than would satisfy his mortgage, and then secured what is called a "personal judgment" for the remainder against the unfortunate debior.

Vice Presidency is a thritty gentlemana and perhaps would hardly sieen easy if he should discover that he had missed chance to turn a penny from the hard use of a fellow-citizen. But it appears to be not exactly the proper thing to speak of the context of a fellow-citizen. But it appears to be not exactly the proper thing to speak of the context of

Mr. English has for many years been reported to be avaricious, grasping and experiment to be avaricious, grasping and experiment to be avaricious. This report more than confirms the unenvisible reputstion. The party that pretends to flight cormorants and defend poor men, presents a singular spectacle with a king cormorant and fleecer of poor men at the tail of its kite. But such is Democracy.

Charles W. Moody, formerly a prominent druggist of Indianapolis, after describing his ruin at the hands of English, added, "He is a wolf in human form; when I could pay no more, I begged him on the Court. House steps to be lenient with me and I would pay as soon as noesible, and he (English) replied—these are bis exact words: "If you don't human form; or shell and he (English) replied—these are bis exact words: "If you don't human form; or shell and ones."

Temperance Convention in Parkers-burg-Address to the Voters. PARKERSBURG, September 16, 1878.

The Temperance Convention, called to cerned, or any calculation can be made, meet at Parkersburg, September 15, was the indications are that the wool in this meet at Farkersourg, September 10, was to locations are that the wool in this organized by the election of Rev. J. L. Clark President, and Rev. W. E. Powell Secretary. A committee was appointed, consisting of Rev. A. C. George and Rev. J. W. Carter, to prepare an address to J. W. Carter, to prepare an address to the sense grade with the tariff and cost of transportation added. There is nothing in the situation discouraging to the farmer who still has some wool to sell. J. W. Carter, to prepare an address to the temperance and christian voters of the State. The following address was sub-mitted and adopted: ADDRESS.

We are in the midst of an exciting political struggle. Great questions are involved. The interests of men are deeply stirred. The desire for partisan success leads to strenuous exertions, and sometimes to the use of unwarranted means and
the use of unwarranted means and sometimes. In such heated strifes the tone
Our estimate, with names of purchasers, ed. The interests of men are deeply stiragencies. In such heated strifes the tone is as follows: of morality is lowered, the caure of temperance languishes, and regard for decency and honesty diminishes, if it does not and honesty diminishes, if it does not wholly disappear. At least there is always danger that such sad results will be realized. It is because of these perils and possibilities that we now address you. We do not speak as partisans, and we seek no political ends. Our aim is higher and nobler. Representing, as we do, the different political organizations, we address you as citizens and christians. We drees you as citizens and christians. We entreat you, therefore, to receive what we say without prejudice or passion, and to give a candid consideration to our appeal.

sentreat you, theretore, a session, and to give a candid consideration to our appeal.

We do not dissuade you from the exercise of the franchise. On the contrary, a we consider it the imperative duty of every citizen to aid in the maintenance of civil government. We believe that you in the consistent obligation of every temperance man and every Christian, to remember his principles when he casts his ballot. We are persuaded that there are certain practices and demands connected with our important elections which ought to be avoided and resisted, with persistent purpose and to the last extremity.

The increased use of intoxicating drinks is a marked feature in every political contest. Many reformed men are led back again into drinking habits, many young men and boys are there first induced to use spirituous liquors, and many moderate drinkers become confirmed drunkards. Some candidates for office furnish free drinks to their supporters, the baleful habit of "treating" gains in strength and rumshops is diligently cultivated by a certain class of political aspirants and managers. We insist that it is the unmistable duty of every good citizen—of every patriot, temperance man and Christian, to set his face as a flint against these practices. No man ought to be supported for any office who resorts to such means to his face as a flint against these practices. No man ought to be supported for any office who resorts to such means to his face as a flint against these practices. No man ought to be supported for any office who resorts to such means to his face as a flint against these practices. No man ought to be supported for any office who resorts to such means to his face as a flint against these practices. The process of th for any office who resorts to such means to obtain an election. We believe that it is fully in the power of sober, reputable. Christian citizens, to administer to such reckless effice-seckers and corrupt partissns a rebuke which will prove effectual, and which will not be forgotten.

There is, moreover, a constant tendency to employ at least a portion of the Christian Sabbath to advance political objects. All intelligent, conscientious clizens will regard such a tendency with alarm, and will defend the sanctity of the Sabbath as the safeguard of the Republic.

It is often demanded of temperance men and of Christians to support for office men of drinking habits, and even of notorious immoral characters, because they have been regularly nominated, and must be elected to ensure a party success. But such men will never be put in nomination by political conventions when it is known that the upright Christian voters will not sustain them with voice or ballot. The presentation of the names of such candidates is an insult to Christian citizens, and ought to be resented at the polits.

Every one who votes to put an immoral and intemperate man into an honorable and lucrative position, votes to make indecency respectable, and dishonesty influential. He practically declares by such vote to aspiring young men that, if they have smartness and partisan strategy, no matter how immoral and dissolute they may be smartness and partisan strategy, no matter how immoral and distants are acceptable, and dissolute they may be smartness and partisan strategy, no matter how immoral and dissolute they may be smartness and partisan strategy, no matter how immoral end in the properties of the control of the control smartness and partisan strategy, no matter how immoral and dissolute they may be come, it will not prevent their politica advancement. The general prevalence o such a sentiment would destroy the foun dations of morality, and would reduc representative government, sooner or la er, to hopeless wreck and ruin. therefore, urge all good citizens to refuse their ballots to intemperate and immoral men, and to all candidates who resort to

This sort of thing is very common in Ireland, and now it is shown that it is quite common in Indiana, and that Mr. William H. English, the millionaire Democrat, is the man who does most of it. The Court records of that State are literally burdened with instance, where he has ground the faces of the poor by means of snap judgments and cut-throat mortgages, and many is the poor man in that State who stands ready to testify that he has been impoverished by English's hearties methods of dealing with him. English is a veritable Shylock, without heart or conscience.

A GOOD DEAL WORSE THAN SHYLOCK, Baltimore American (Rep)
